Insight. Strategy. Understanding. Resolution.

Imraan Mahomed is a commercially astute dispute resolution professional whose career spans investment management, private equity, mergers and acquisitions, corporate strategy, healthcare, technology, and operational leadership. A CFA Charterholder with extensive executive and board-level experience, he brings analytical rigour, strategic insight, and practical problem-solving to the mediation process.

Having worked across complex commercial environments for more than two decades, Imraan understands that successful dispute resolution requires more than legal or financial analysis. It requires the ability to understand people, navigate competing interests, evaluate risk objectively, and facilitate outcomes that are commercially sustainable and practically achievable.

Known for his balanced temperament, strong interpersonal skills, and thoughtful approach, Imraan has a natural ability to engage constructively with stakeholders from diverse backgrounds. His experience leading strategic initiatives, managing investments, overseeing acquisitions, and negotiating business outcomes enables him to assist parties in resolving disputes with clarity, confidence, and purpose.

SPECIALISATION FOCUS: COMMERCIAL, BUSINESS, INVESTMENT, FINANCIAL AND CORPORATE DISPUTES

Imraan is particularly well suited to disputes involving commercial complexity, financial analysis, strategic decision-making, and stakeholder engagement, including:

- Commercial and contractual disputes
- Business and shareholder disputes
- Investment and financial disputes
- Corporate governance matters
- Mergers and acquisitions-related disputes
- Partnership disputes
- Healthcare sector disputes

- Strategic and operational business conflicts
- Complex stakeholder and multi-party disputes

His mediation style combines analytical precision with practical problem-solving, helping parties identify areas of common interest and develop commercially realistic solutions.

WHAT CLIENTS CAN EXPECT

Clients working with Imraan can expect a mediator who is:

- Analytical and strategically minded
- Calm, measured, and objective
- Commercially sophisticated
- Highly skilled in risk assessment and scenario planning
- Practical and solutions-oriented
- Respectful, fair, and impartial

- An effective communicator and facilitator
- Focused on sustainable and future-oriented outcomes

Imraan is particularly effective in matters where parties require a mediator capable of understanding complex financial, operational, commercial, or strategic issues while maintaining an approachable and constructive process

LEADERSHIP, SERVICE & PROFESSIONAL CONTRIBUTION

Igama lamakhosikazi malibongwe

Imraan has built an impressive leadership career across investment management, healthcare, diagnostics, strategy, and corporate operations. He currently serves in a senior investment and operations leadership role within the private investment sector, overseeing portfolio management, acquisitions, and strategic growth initiatives.

Prior to this, Imraan held numerous executive leadership positions with leading multinational organisations, including Siemens Healthcare and Becton

Dickinson, serving on regional executive committees and leading strategic, operational, and commercial initiatives across Southern Africa

His experience spans investment management, private equity, business development, strategic planning, healthcare innovation, corporate growth, and stakeholder engagement, providing him with a unique perspective on complex organisational and commercial challenges

Beyond his professional responsibilities, Imraan actively contributes to the development of the investment profession through his volunteer work with the CFA Institute and CFA Society South Africa. He is committed to promoting professional excellence, ethical leadership, and the development of future investment practitioners.

His contribution reflects a belief that meaningful professional success includes creating opportunities for others and advancing the standards of the professions in which he serves.

A NOTE ON HIS APPROACH

Imraan approaches mediation through a combination of analytical thinking, commercial understanding, and genuine curiosity about people and organisations. His ability to evaluate complex situations from multiple perspectives allows him to assist parties in understanding both risks and opportunities while keeping discussions focused on practical outcomes.

Drawing on extensive experience in investment analysis, strategic decision-making, negotiations, and stakeholder management, he is adept at helping parties disentangle complex issues and identify pathways toward agreement.

His style is thoughtful, respectful, and solutions focused. He understands that sustainable outcomes are often achieved when parties are given the space to explore interests, challenge assumptions constructively, and develop solutions that address both immediate concerns and long-term objectives.

Whether dealing with commercial, financial, operational, or relationship-based disputes, Imraan brings a calm presence, disciplined reasoning, and a commitment to helping parties achieve meaningful resolution.

BEYOND PRACTICE

Beyond keeping a keen eye on public and private markets, Imraan has a longstanding interest in the intersection of finance, healthcare, and technology. He is driven by a natural curiosity about the forces that shape industries, influence decision-making, and create sustainable value over time.

His commitment to professional excellence extends beyond his day-to-day work through his volunteer involvement with the CFA Institute and CFA Society South Africa, where he contributes to initiatives that support ethical leadership, professional development, and the growth of future investment professionals.

Away from work, Imraan enjoys spending quality time with his family, exploring the outdoors, discovering memorable dining experiences, and travelling to experience different cultures and perspectives. Whether exploring a new destination, appreciating exceptional cuisine, or engaging with nature, these pursuits provide an opportunity to recharge while reinforcing the curiosity, discipline, and balanced perspective that underpin his professional approach.

Those who know him describe him as thoughtful, intellectually curious, approachable, and highly disciplined. His ability to combine commercial insight with empathy, strategic thinking with practicality, and analytical reasoning with strong interpersonal skills makes him a trusted adviser and effective dispute resolution professional.

“Lasting resolution is achieved when people understand the interests behind the positions, the risks behind the decisions, and the opportunities within the solution.”
